From The Desk of the Secretary/ Director

Md. Ahsan Ansari

Despite our efforts to prevent and relieve it, there is still a terrible amount of suffering in the world. While the rates of illness and death from infectious disease and malnutrition have gone down in developed countries, the same rates from Cancer and circulatory disease have risen. Genetic defects, accident and violence take their toll. Population density makes the impact of natural disasters worse than it once was. Although medical Science has helped us to achieve longer life span, we often require medical assistance to live through those extra years. As much as we need doctors, there is also a need for nurses to work with patients and translate doctor's recommendations into real health improvement or pain relief.

Nursing schools not only prepare you for a great and financially rewarding career they also give you the knowledge and skills you need to make a difference in people's lives. This can take place in hospital, hospice, doctor's office, school, camp nursing home, or patient's residence. "I want to make the world a better place" might be a cliché, but there are few better ways to do it than by studying and practicing nursing.

Wish you success

Opportunities in Nursing

Many people's conception of nursing is limited to "caring for frail or sick old people in a home or hospital ward" It is true that more nurses than ever are needed to provide that type of care. But many nursing specialties and careers can take you beyond. Nurse midwives, help deliver babies and help women to stay healthy and avoid complications during and after pregnancy perinatal also known as neonatal or obstetric nurses monitor and care for women before, while, and after they deliver babies. Peri operative nurses assist before, during and after surgery. Public health nurses attempt to keep entire communities as healthy as possible by preventing and controlling the spread of disease and the incidence of environmental related health problems, as well as by educating people how to maintain their well-ness. They are employed by community organisations ranging in size from camps and schools to city health departments. They are recruited at Government Hospitals & Private Nursing Homes and Individual home, big organisations to look after their employee. They can also make their independent services in their particular areas. And they all make them earn both money as well as social reputation thus. Nursing has a great opportunity ahead. So get start get going.

Enjoy the liberty of being a NURSE.
